

Superyacht Industry Development Fund

Queensland's beautiful coastline and world-class marine environments are the envy of the world, and amongst one of our state's leading tourism attractions. These advantages, along with our skilled workforce, strong maritime industry capability and excellent marine infrastructure, make us a prime location for superyacht visitation and support.

Increased superyacht activity in coming years will create high-value opportunities for construction, maintenance, tourism operations and other ancillary services. The Queensland Government wants to make sure our state's maritime businesses have the skills and partnerships needed to take advantage of those opportunities.

Funding industry growth

The Superyacht Industry Development Fund (SIDF) offers support to small and medium businesses supplying to, or with the potential to supply to, the superyacht industry. One round will run each year, with applications assessed competitively.

Certification funding

Many of the services needed by superyacht owners can only be delivered by appropriately skilled and certified businesses.

The SIDF offers grants of up to $10,000 in matched funding per small to medium business, per year to go toward relevant certifications that meet the requirements of the superyacht industry.

International trade show events and inbound international delegation visits

Attending international trade events and attracting international delegations are important ways to develop partnerships to attract more business for the Queensland superyacht industry.

The SIDF offers grant funding to cover eligible costs associated with:

- attending up to three international trade events
- supporting the visit of one inbound international delegation.

$3,000 in matched funding is available for each event, up to a maximum of $9,000 per small to medium business, per year.
